

With our words we

Might fashion
bars to keep

Our thoughts
locked up

We steel
them away,
never to see

The light of day, lest we should know

What cost the brick and
mortar pay –

And then
say:

Have we built
a prison or a

Fortress?